The Positive Discipline Way

Become a Certified Positive Discipline Parent Educator

Teaching Parenting the Positive Discipline Way (developed by Lynn Lott and Jane Nelsen) is a research-based parent education program that provides a step-by-step approach to starting and leading experientially based parenting groups. This program provides experiential activities that reach the heart to inspire deeper understanding and change.

Participants will:

1. Learn research-based effective parenting tools that are mutually respectful, create connection, empower children to feel capable, and encourage children's innate desire to contribute.
2. Deepen your understanding of the Adlerian approach to parenting.
3. Practice facilitating a parenting class from the position of a non-expert. Experience is not necessary!
4. Learn how to use the manual to facilitate activities for small or large group settings. Teachers and counselors welcome!
5. Join over 20,000 members across the globe who want to create healthy respectful relationships and keep the joy in parenting!
